Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Line 2 “ of the type” is indefinite as it is confusing the scope of the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

4. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Voris et al (2002/0192259).

Voris et al discloses a method of controlling the entry of vapor and insects into building comprising a floor having an accessible underside including the steps of providing a thermoplastic resin selected from the group including polyethylene, providing a quantity of fipronil (page 9 paragraph 113 line 10), blending the selected thermoplastic resin with the fipronil to provide an insect controlling feedstock, extruding the insect controlling feedstock into an insect controlling vapor barrier (paragraph 86 page 6), securing the insect controlling vapor barrier in engagement with the underside of the floor of the building thereby preventing vapor and insects from entering the building through the floor (figures 6-7), the buildings being equipped with interior floor surfaces, securing the insect controlling film to the interior floor surfaces of the building in such a manner that it remains immobile, wrapping the film around insulation batts.

Art Unit: 3637

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 2-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Voris et al (2002/0192259).

Voris et al shows all the claimed limitations except for the step of cutting the insect controlling film.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify Voris et al's structure to show the step of cutting the insect controlling film because cutting a sheet to fit a particular dimension for installation is well known in the art.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The prior art shows different insect repellent device.
